Discover Thormanby Island and A Rare West Coastal Retreat

North Thormanby Island is a coastal hideaway on BC's Sunshine Coast, known for white sand beaches, warm waters, and easygoing summer lifestyle. This 10.9-acre forested property, complete with two structures, offers exceptional seclusion while having convenient access via water taxis, private boat, or float plane. The Island is both remote and reachable—ideal for those seeking privacy without sacrificing convenience. Whether it's paddling Buccaneer Bay, watching kids roam freely between tennis tournaments and beach days, or hosting friends at your own private getaway, life here moves to a different rhythm.

Flexible Living, Modern Comforts and Future Potential

A 320-sf cabin is nearing completion, featuring an open kitchen/living space with sink, fridge, range, wood stove, large bedroom, and bathroom. Cedar siding and plans for an outdoor shower and deck add charm. A second outbuilding offers sleeping/storage and covered space for camper. Water is collected in large tanks, with a well and RO system planned. Power is run by generator and solar. With dual driveways and over 10 acres, there's room to expand. Located within walking distance of two stunning beaches, this property is ready to enjoy—and finish your way.

The land is also zoned for a future 1,300-square-foot cottage with plans already drafted. Whether you're envisioning a minimalist retreat, a summer escape, or a long-term investment in coastal living, this property offers the infrastructure, flexibility, and natural beauty to make it your own.

- 10.9 acres of level forested land
